Code Compliance Program - One Year Update

FROM:

Kevin Flynn, Code Compliance, kevin.flynn@ashland.or.us

SUMMARY:

Staff will provide an overview on the activity and enforcement actions carried out by the Code Compliance Specialist over the last year. Included is a summary of general activity in all areas of municipal code compliance, a current log of suspected unlicensed short term rentals under investigation, and maps identifying the distribution, status and zoning of these properties.

BACKGROUND AND POLICY IMPLICATIONS:

The code compliance program has received over 857 requests for service from citizens since January 1, 2014. The requests for service span many city departments and encompass a wide variety of municipal code areas.

A significant percentage of the code compliance specialist's time has been directed toward land use issues. In the beginning of the year there was a focus on the large number of properties allegedly operating short term rentals without the prerequisite land use approval, business license and transient occupancy tax registration. To date, compliance activities have achieved positive results toward addressing the number of short term rental properties operating in violation of the Ashland Municipal Code. A list of 194 properties, potentially operating as short term rentals, has been compiled. From this list, 131 property owners have been contacted and the compliance issues resolved. The remaining properties are believed to be inactive and compliance efforts have been documented for archival purposes. As the high visitor season winds down, resolved cases will be monitored to ensure continued compliance with agreed upon resolutions.

Code compliance has been developing relationships and coordinating efforts with other city departments. The digital code compliance activity log is being maintained and available for viewing by other departments to track the status of past and present cases of mutual interest. Code compliance has been included in police monthly area command meetings to discuss shared concerns, increase effectiveness and to avoid unnecessary overlap of staff resources. The cooperation and coordination efforts are working well. Code compliance participated as a member of the city Drought Preparedness Team assisting Public Works. Code Compliance was included in the group as a resource for enforcement options if the curtailment levels were increased. Code Compliance participated in discussions, problem solving and advised the team of options regarding warnings and citations if the situation changed and this level of enforcement was ever needed.

FISCAL IMPLICATIONS:

TRENDING CODE COMPLAINTS TO CONSIDER:

Medical marijuana agricultural grow sites are being reported and described as causing a negative impact due to the noxious odor of the plants. The size of the grow site is the number one factor in the level of odor. Some growers are maintaining plants for more than just themselves and these larger backyard grows are causing complaints regarding what is described as "the strong skunk like odor" of the flowering plants. Police have fielded these complaints in the past. Code Compliance has issued four cease and abate warnings and one citation to date for Nuisance (offensive odor) under the city municipal code.

Recreational trailers, utility sheds and other temporary structures being used as long term dwellings units in backyards and driveways in the single family zones on private property are being reported. Complaints describe people as living in utility sheds, recreational vehicles, trailers or out buildings, resulting in increased noise levels and the need for additional parking. Medford and Jackson County have ordinances that prohibit this specific activity in single family residential zones. Ashland may want to consider amending our ordinances to provide clarity to property owners that such use of trailers and non-habitable structures as permanent dwellings is not permitted.

Code compliance has been receiving reports and complaints of an increase in the mice and rat populations in the city. Some citizens believe that chicken coops are causing this problem. Each complaint has its own issues and when responding to these vector control complaints the area is assessed for possible food sources or other conditions that may be contributing to the rise in sightings. Citizens are also referred to Jackson County resources for vector control such as free traps and advice on removal.
